Based in Bradgate Park Leicestershire, the workshop is timed to coincide with the Red and Fallow Deer rut which will have reached its frenetic peak. I will take you to the best areas in search of Deer, which will range from females with calves and large dominant stags fighting for their attention. You will get the opportunity to photograph Fallow Deer and also take some landscape photographs of the park because the autumn colours will also be at their peak. This part of Leicestershire is a beautiful area during autumn and the photographic opportunities will be endless.
